OLD BUSINESS: None.

NEW BUSINESS:

Item 4. General Informational Report of the President.

Dr. Greenberg distributed his report since the last meeting and said it had been a very busy fall. He shared that the University had an interesting visit from the top leadership team from Georgia Healthsciences University (formerly Medical College of Georgia) who requested to meet with MUSC's leadership team. Dr. Greenberg distributed a sheet Georgia Healthsciences University (GHU) had prepared which compared what has happened over the last couple of decades at MUSC and GHU.
There are many historical parallels between the two institutions. Philanthropy shows a dramatic increase over the past 6-7 years at MUSC which is a tribute to Jim Fisher and his team and Tom Anderson with the corresponding growth of the endowment has been dramatic as compared with theirs. According to the statistics from GHU, the aging of the physical facilities showed MUSC has about two million square feet of space that is ten years of age or less (including university and hospital) while GHU has built about a third of that over the past decade. Research growth for the first decade of the 21st century shows MUSC has the seventh fastest percentage growth of research funding in the country. During the last five years, MUSC has had a 22% increase in the research funding while Georgia has been relatively flat over that same period. With regard to state funding, MUSC’s has declined precipitously during the same period of time while we are now down to 6% of our University budget coming from state funding contrasted with almost 15% in state funding received by Georgia Healthsciences University. Dr. Greenberg thought the comparison interesting and wanted to share the information with the board.

Dr. Greenberg stated that everyone knows that after today’s meeting we will be dedicating the James E. Clyburn Research Center and Congressman Clyburn was kind enough to agree to come early so that the Board could have an opportunity to get an update on his perspective on what is going on in Washington. The board made the decision two years ago to name the complex in honor of Congressman Clyburn. He has been stalwart in his support of MUSC since he has been in Congress and particularly when he was successful in bringing about $20 million in research support which will help us assist in providing healthcare to the Pee Dee and the other underserved parts of the state.

Congressman Clyburn thanked the board for this great honor. He hoped he would be allowed to live long enough to prove himself worthy of the honor. He said working with MUSC has been a tremendous highlight for him. He talked about his service on the Appropriations Committee and the “Super Committee.” He recognized that MUSC is challenged due to funding trying to serve the Pee Dee and Lowcountry of South Carolina. Seeing the disparity of healthcare services he sees how through technology we can link this university to nooks and crannies throughout the state. We should have community health centers linked with this university through technology and that goal has become his passion. That will make great healthcare available to all citizens. MUSC is well situated to provide this care through technology. He stated that to the extent to which he can be helpful with this process and to this great facility which is dedicated in his honor, he is going to devote the rest of his life to it. Congressman Clyburn said thank you again for this great honor and thank you for what you do for our state and thank you for what I know you will do going forward. This is a great day for me, my family and for South Carolina.

After an update on current federal appropriations including his participation on the “Super Committee,” Congressman Clyburn addressed a few questions from the board. At the conclusion of presentation, Dr. Greenberg reminded everyone that the dedication of the Clyburn Research Center would begin at 11 a.m. and he looked forward to seeing everyone there.
